WOULD KILL STEPHENS; MANSION BLOWN UP

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 18.—An abortive attempt to kill Gov. William D. Stephens by means of a powerful, high-power explosive bomb at 11:55 p.m. resulted in the wrecking of the executive mansion, the entire rear end of the building being blown out. The Governor and Mrs. Stephens, as well as the household servants, were asleep at the time and all escaped injury. Two men were seen fleeing from the house immediately after the explosion. No arrests have yet been made. Approximately twenty-five sticks of dynamite were in the bomb exploded. The great force of the explosion did not even awaken the Governor and his wife, who were asleep at the time the explosion occurred.

Telephonic Instrument Helps Surgeons to Find Shell Splinters.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Detection of metal in wounds by means of a new telephonic device is described in dispatches to the Department of Commerce.

The instrument is moved over the body of the patient and emits a humming noise when over a shell splinter or shell splinter, and is further used in guiding a probe toward the hidden metal.

Whether the metal is magnetic and can be withdrawn by an electric magnetic without the use of an incision can also be told by the instrument.

ARMISTICE IS SIGNED.

Russian Peace may be Permanent.

Large Masses of Germans are Already Being Moved to Other Fronts.

Agreement with Huns is Announced at All Capitals Concerned.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—The chief event of the last week, the conclusion of an armistice between the Central Powers and Russia, is likely to prove as severe a blow to Russia as to the Entente. The armistice probably will last well into the spring, as no one in Russia at present is going to take the responsibility of recommending hostilities, and it will be ended only by the conclusion of a separate peace or by the end of the war.

But one thing is certain—Russia is hardly more of a factor in these negotiations at Brest-Litovsk than she is in the war. Lenin, Trotsky and their co-fanatics have but one ambition, and that is to conclude peace in this war and then start a civil war of their own. The result is bound to be disorganization and internal strife from which Russia will be long in recovering.

Austria wants part of the Ukraine, which will prevent that province from agreeing to any terms along these lines, and Siberia, well removed as it is from the scene of battle, also probably will oppose peace, which entails too great a sacrifice.

It is felt here that there is still an even chance that a separate peace will not be agreed to right off, principally because it is not believed that Germany will make terms satisfactory to the Bolsheviks. It all depends on how badly the Central Powers really want such a peace as they could make with the present Russian leaders. If they want such a peace and the Prussian war chiefs consent to it, then there seems nothing now to prevent its conclusion.

MAKES PALACE A CANTEEN.

London Home Thrown Open to Americans

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Two Italian torpedo boats under Lieutenant-Commander Russo composed the force which made the daring raid into the inner harbor at Trieste, Sunday night, December 9, and torpedoed two Austrian battleships, one of which was seen to sink. Further details of the exploit were given in dispatches received by the Italian Embassy today.

The raid was planned when it was learned that the Austrians were preparing to send from Trieste two ships of the monarchy type, with their 140-millimeter guns, to bombard the Italian coastal positions.

A division of torpedo boats under Captain Pignatti was assigned to the task and the captain selected Lieutenant-Commander Russo with two boats to make the dash into the harbor, while the remainder of the division kept outside in support.

By slow and silent movement through a heavy fog, the little craft reached the extremity of the Muggia Pier, where the two Austrian battleships were located, and two hours were spent cutting eight large wire cables stretched across the passage. Other obstructions were removed and the boats were able to pass over them.

During all this time Austrian outposts were very near and searchlights were being played on the water, but in spite of this the torpedo boats succeeded in entering the inner port without being sighted.

Two Austrian battleships were discovered at anchor in the inner end of the harbor, near Point Saba. Proceeding cautiously, the Italian vessels approached to ascertain whether there were any projecting nets or other obstructions, then took up positions for the attack.

Finally at 2:30 a.m. Monday, the two torpedo boats simultaneously launched four torpedoes aimed at the battleships. All four torpedoes exploded.

Russo reported that the battleship Wien, nearest the attacking vessels, was observed to sink in five minutes while the other battleship certainly was struck, though owing to the "great distance, it was impossible to discover the damage done.

At the sound of the explosion Austrian battleships opened fire and searchlights swept over the water. The lights located the attacking vessels and the Austrian guns were brought to bear on them and torpedoes fired, but the Italian boats escaped and returned safely to base with the supporting squadron.

Hundreds of bells throughout Rome were rung during the ceremonial at the convent, where Cardinal Lega said mass and blessed the immense crowd.

LEAD US AGAINST THE HUNS,
DEMAND GALLANT SOLDIERS OF THE FORTIETH DIVISION.

Chief Fear of Men at Camp Kearny is That Some Unforeseen Circumstance May Prevent Them Going to France.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

(STAFF CORRESPONDENT OF THE TIMES AT CAMP KEARNY.)

A RE the soldier boys of the gallant Fortieth eager for the fray?
Does a real man, when he sees a bully beating up a child, cover his face with his hands, and weeping turn away?
Did John L. Sullivan ever "lay down"?
Did Jack Dempsey ever sidestep a fight?
Did the White Sox quit in the last world series?
Did the Minute Men at Lexington turn and "tin can" when they saw the enemy?
Did the Rough Riders falter when they charged up San Juan Hill?
Did Commodore Perry say: "We have met the enemy, but I don't think we had better engage them?"
Did John Paul Jones say: "I have not yet begun to fight, and what's more I don't intend to?"
Did Patrick Henry say: "Give me liberty, providing I can get it without fighting for it?"
Did George Washington say: "The water in the Delaware looks pretty cold; let's wait a few weeks before going across?"
Did Gen. Grant say: "This is a tough job and will take us all summer; let's quit now?"
All foolish questions, but none more so than that as to whether the men at Camp Kearny are eager for the fray.
Their chief fear is that the war, through some sudden move, might end before they can reach France.
They are not peace-at-any-price, nor on your terms, and neither are they for a peace made in Germany. Men of the Fortieth feel that the only thing that the United States owes Germany is a sound licking. Furthermore, they are as certain that the American army can cut the Hindenburg line to fragments as they are of their next meal.

COMPARISON TO CRAVEN CURS MAKES BLOOD BOIL.

Pronouncement by the pro-Germans that this line is impregnable, and veiled insinuations that the Hun, man for man, are better fighters than the Samurais, has had the effect of opening the flood-gates of full-blooded Americanism, and the soldiers of this nation will not be satisfied until they have had a chance to prove that men to man they are superior to the craven curs who murder the weak and helpless.

The men of Camp Kearny are as bulldogs which have been too long held in leash.

And what is true of them probably applies to the men of every cantonment in which the great army of liberty and law is being forged on the anvil of iron determination.

Have no misgivings. The traditions of the country are in safe keeping, and the tenets of civilization and humanity will be superbly defended whether at long range artillery fire or face to face and blow for blow in the trenches.

If you could only see these fellows in action, as they prepare to grapple the Huns in the trenches, rip them with their bayonets, club them with their guns or with clenched hands around hairy throats cut short their gurgling, swine-like grunts—exterminate them as they would some loathsome reptile, the desire to get one Boche dearer than life itself, boys transfused into men inside of four months, and determination to win written deep on every face—then you could understand and know that Germany's hour has struck. Call them off? Try and call off a bulldog that has been sent into the pit.

These men are the modern crusaders who have elected to bear the world's cross and face the "Crimson flood."

INDIAN CRAFT AND FRENCH BRILLIANCE.

They will fight with the agility and craft of Indians, the brilliancy of the French, the stubbornness of the Briton, the fire of an Irishman, the courage of a Belgian and the faith of a Christian. If you are a betting gent don't hesitate to put your money down on them.

Through their veins courses the best blood of every race. Their forebears refused to remain rotting in one spot, or admit the divine right of some doddering old monarch to rule over them. They are free men, the sons of free men—men with red corpses, strong hearts, a love of justice, strong conscience, a sense of duty that does not stop at death and a broad sympathy that reaches across the sea to the stricken and suffering.

They regard this as their own individual war, no less because it is a world war. Each man has settled the question in his own mind and heart. He knows his place, and will not desert his post.

Responding to the urge of fair play, good sportsmanship, gallantry, chivalry—everything that the Kaiser doesn't represent—they have flocked from plain, mine, factory, mountain, counting-house, the trades, in fact every walk of life—to rally under the banner of humanity, and fight under the flag that no man ever has been asked to follow except in a war for freedom, either for ourselves or for others. That is why we have never lost a fight, and never will as long as we remain true to those ideals.

A mature man of wealth, who sacrificed certain luxuries for the uncertainty, hardships and hazards of war, answered the question very simply: "I am in the army because I have a conscience. As I may have to live with myself for a good many years to come, I didn't want that conscience asking me questions which I couldn't answer."

TO Avenge MURDERS OF MOTHERS OVERSEA.

In the camp are mere boys who have pondered the question deeply in their own hearts, and who under the soul-racking hours of self-searching have learned to speak with a wisdom beyond their years. Said one soldier who is not yet out of his teens: "I have a mother, and I couldn't sleep at night because of thinking of other mothers across the sea who were being murdered. Older men argued with me, and said that it was none of our war; that it was too far away, and that we shouldn't butt in. To save my life I couldn't see the difference between killing women and children here or on the other side of the world. If I saw that thing being done by my next-door neighbor who had suddenly gone insane, I wouldn't stand back because he was doing it on his own property—because an invisible line divided his lot from mine, or because his victim didn't happen to be a relative of mine. The fact that Belgium was farther away didn't make it any less my quarrel—my duty to interfere. That's why I enlisted."

There never was a more selfish utterance than "America first" at a time like this—uttered by those who opposed our entry into the war, and who agitated against sending food to our Allies, and to the widows and orphans who were being starved, and who but for our Allies would have been even more at the mercy of the most heartless foe that ever threatened the world's liberty. It was like saying, if your neighbors were starving, and you had plenty, "Me first."

These soldiers are not merely the soldiers of a nation, but the defenders of democracy against autocracy; the champions of taking the post of Ambassador, and he will return to Russia immediately.

The Petrograd Railway Men's Union, according to a Reuter dispatch from the Russian capital, has received a telegram from the effect that the Maximilian troops in Odessa attacked the arsenal where the Ukrainian troops were gathered.

These attacked the Maximilians, who were defeated after street fighting in which there were many casualties on both sides. Sailors of the Black Sea fleet participated in the fighting.

Afterward, the Black Sea sailors divided, the majority going over to the Ukrainians, who are preventing the Bolsheviks from sending troops from Odessa against Gen. Kaledin.

RECOGNITION REMOTE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Recognition of the Bolshevik government by the United States still is remote, it was indicated today at the State Department.

Reports in Europe suggesting a developing sentiment in favor of dealing with the new regime as a de facto government have been met with no response here, and it was made plain that the United States would continue its policy of awaiting developments.

It was suggested here that one of the direct effects of the armistice between the German and Russian armies might be the financing of the Bolsheviks by Germany with paper money.

Did George Washington say: "The water in the Delaware looks pretty cold; let's wait a few weeks before going across?"

Did Gen. Grant say: "This is a tough job and will take us all summer; let's quit now?"

All foolish questions, but none more so than that as to whether the men at Camp Kearny are eager for the fray.

Their chief fear is that the war, through some sudden move, might end before they can reach France.

They are not peace-at-any-price, nor on your terms, and neither are they for a peace made in Germany. Men of the Fortieth feel that the only thing that the United States owes Germany is a sound licking. Furthermore, they are as certain that the American army can cut the Hindenburg line to fragments as they are of their next meal.

COMPARISON TO CRAVEN CURS MAKES BLOOD BOIL.

Pronouncement by the pro-Germans that this line is impregnable, and veiled insinuations that the Hun, man for man, are better fighters than the Samurais, has had the effect of opening the flood-gates of full-blooded Americanism, and the soldiers of this nation will not be satisfied until they have had a chance to prove that men to man they are superior to the craven curs who murder the weak and helpless.

The men of Camp Kearny are as bulldogs which have been too long held in leash.

And what is true of them probably applies to the men of every cantonment in which the great army of liberty and law is being forged on the anvil of iron determination.

Have no misgivings. The traditions of the country are in safe keeping, and the tenets of civilization and humanity will be superbly defended whether at long range artillery fire or face to face and blow for blow in the trenches.

If you could only see these fellows in action, as they prepare to grapple the Huns in the trenches, rip them with their bayonets, club them with their guns or with clenched hands around hairy throats cut short their gurgling, swine-like grunts—exterminate them as they would some loathsome reptile, the desire to get one Boche dearer than life itself, boys transfused into men inside of four months, and determination to win written deep on every face—then you could understand and know that Germany's hour has struck. Call them off? Try and call off a bulldog that has been sent into the pit.

These men are the modern crusaders who have elected to bear the world's cross and face the "Crimson flood."

INDIAN CRAFT AND FRENCH BRILLIANCE.

They will fight with the agility and craft of Indians, the brilliancy of the French, the stubbornness of the Briton, the fire of an Irishman, the courage of a Belgian and the faith of a Christian. If you are a betting gent don't hesitate to put your money down on them.

Through their veins courses the best blood of every race. Their forebears refused to remain rotting in one spot, or admit the divine right of some doddering old monarch to rule over them. They are free men, the sons of free men—men with red corpses, strong hearts, a love of justice, strong conscience, a sense of duty that does not stop at death and a broad sympathy that reaches across the sea to the stricken and suffering.

They regard this as their own individual war, no less because it is a world war. Each man has settled the question in his own mind and heart. He knows his place, and will not desert his post.

Responding to the urge of fair play, good sportsmanship, gallantry, chivalry—everything that the Kaiser doesn't represent—they have flocked from plain, mine, factory, mountain, counting-house, the trades, in fact every walk of life—to rally under the banner of humanity, and fight under the flag that no man ever has been asked to follow except in a war for freedom, either for ourselves or for others. That is why we have never lost a fight, and never will as long as we remain true to those ideals.

A mature man of wealth, who sacrificed certain luxuries for the uncertainty, hardships and hazards of war, answered the question very simply: "I am in the army because I have a conscience. As I may have to live with myself for a good many years to come, I didn't want that conscience asking me questions which I couldn't answer."

TO Avenge MURDERS OF MOTHERS OVERSEA.

In the camp are mere boys who have pondered the question deeply in their own hearts, and who under the soul-racking hours of self-searching have learned to speak with a wisdom beyond their years. Said one soldier who is not yet out of his teens: "I have a mother, and I couldn't sleep at night because of thinking of other mothers across the sea who were being murdered. Older men argued with me, and said that it was none of our war; that it was too far away, and that we shouldn't butt in. To save my life I couldn't see the difference between killing women and children here or on the other side of the world. If I saw that thing being done by my next-door neighbor who had suddenly gone insane, I wouldn't stand back because he was doing it on his own property—because an invisible line divided his lot from mine, or because his victim didn't happen to be a relative of mine. The fact that Belgium was farther away didn't make it any less my quarrel—my duty to interfere. That's why I enlisted."

There never was a more selfish utterance than "America first" at a time like this—uttered by those who opposed our entry into the war, and who agitated against sending food to our Allies, and to the widows and orphans who were being starved, and who but for our Allies would have been even more at the mercy of the most heartless foe that ever threatened the world's liberty. It was like saying, if your neighbors were starving, and you had plenty, "Me first."

This is the question in combined mathematics and poultry husbandry that will be put up to a jury in Judge Lindsey's court when they are brought in the damage action called by Mayor Anton Konda against Charles Perre, a rancher. Mayor Konda's son, a twelve-year-old boy, was injured by a cow on the Perre ranch and he claims damages in the sum of $100. Perre denied the allegations in the complaint.

VENICE, Dec. 17.—The City Trustees today declared the position of canal superintendent vacant, following an investigation of charges preferred against Roger H. Lenta, incumbent, by Constable Frank J. Barton. The charges were made in connection with the building of a dam across one of the canals for $125 for the work, but an investigation of the city's pay rolls is alleged to have shown that the city paid the bills.

TITLE SCRAP FOR FRIDAY.

Manual and Pomona Postpone Pennant Contest.

Indications Award Victory to the Toilers.

Nisbet's Toe Main Hope of the Jackrabbits.

Manual Arts and Pomona High will decide the destiny of the Southern California prep title on Howard Field Friday afternoon. The game was originally scheduled for tomorrow afternoon on the same battlefield, but late last night the parties concerned got together for a little speechfest and decided that, inasmuch as each school has played a hard game Saturday, a two-day postponement would be highly desirable.

Since Manual's unconditional 15-0 victory over San Diego High in the southern city last Saturday, most of the prophets have united in forecasting an easy triumph for the Toilers over Clint Evans's Pomona Jackrabbits. The half-back with the Manualites are the classiest prep aggregation to step onto a Southern California gridiron in several years, and if Pomona slips it over on them more than one expert will declare that the title will be won.

THE FIGURES.

To date the Artisans have piled up 230 tallies to the twenty-one under-earned points of their opponents. Ten of these twenty-one units were registered against the Vermont-avenue boys by the husky Occidental College grid expert.

On the other hand, Pomona has garnered 289 points against thirteen for her opponent combined.

The Toiler offense comes as near to being invincible as any seen on a gridiron here this year, but when it comes to sheer, desperate defense of the ultimate chalk mark the Sagebrushers are said to develop more resistance.

Pomona is pinning her hopes to the highly educated pedal extremity of "Rockies" Nisbet, the half-back with an uncomfortable propensity for locating the sacred square of atmosphere bounded by the crossbar and the uprights.

In the Pomona-South Pasadena fracas Nisbet scored four of the twelve tallies rolled up by the Jackrabbits.

San Diego High became thoroughly bewildered under the verbal attack of the Toilers, and if the city boys open up on Pomona with a drive similar to the one which undermined the confidence of Coach Price's southerners in the first few minutes of play last Saturday the Sagebrushers are said to go home on the mournful end of a monumental score.

COAST LEAGUE MAGNATES HOLD SESSION HERE.

Spider Baum will Manage Sacramento, Which Takes Portland's Place.

BY LEEBOW BOWEN.

WHILE ball players and scribes remained below decks demolishing all the free lunch within reach, the Pacific Coast League moguls yesterday secluded themselves in A. L. Baum's palatial apartment at the Van Nuys Hotel and discussed the league's prospects of feeding a flock of hungry baseball players during the coming season.

The net results of the afternoon session were the complete demolition of the free lunch and several thrilling announcements by the moguls, the most important of which were:

1. The Coast League will play the coming season with the same teams as last year, excepting that Sacramento will replace Portland.
2. The double umpire system will be abandoned as an economy measure and only three umpires will be signed for this year.
3. Prices for all seats will remain the same as formerly, the league merely paying the small war tax of 10 per cent.
4. Pre-season exhibition games will be held in the city as the judgment of the various club owners dictates.

RUMORS GALORE.

Despite the presence of a number of managers and players, not to mention some three or four American Association moguls, no startling announcements in the way of trades or sales were made. Walter McCredie was standing around with a list of Portland players in one hand and a receipt book in the other, but reported no deals.

Several large meaty rumors however, were plucked from the fly and the chances are that the majority of them will be true. Walter McCredie and President Lane of the Bees were gun-shooting around the place together and it seemed pretty well settled that the former Beaver manager will be at the helm of the Salt Lake team this year.

SAFETY OF THE LEAGUE.

Sacramento's acceptance of the Portland franchise did not carry with it any of the Beaver players as the Capital City men have not yet incorporated. It was gossiped around the hotel, however, that Charles Graham will be the big mogul of the Senators and that none other than the revered Spider Baum will manage the team. Ben Berry admitted that he had heard of it and was willing to give Spider a try.

It was also being whispered about that the player limit will definitely be cut from eighteen to sixteen men and that the league will definitely go on record as preferring youngsters to old timers. Graham also is said to be heading a movement to lower the salary limit from $4500 a month to $3750.

HEARD ON THE SIDE.

Magnates and ball players were as thick in the Van Nuys lobby yesterday as undertakers around a wreck. The air was full of gossip and chatter of deals, transfers, war tax, minor-league politics, high price of beer, salary cuts, raised rents, national prohibition and other matters close to the heart, likewise the liver, of those who are making and losing their money by means of the grass-coated diamond.

Jim McGill, blaw in early, closely followed by Hughie Jones, who inherited the Denver franchise from McGill when the latter decided to center his efforts in the Indianapolis team of the American Association. They were followed shortly by Mike Kelly of St. Paul, and a few minutes later by Bill Ewing, who finds himself the owner of a ball team with out a league in which to turn it loose, which is like owning a hungry chimpanzee with peanuts $100 a sack.

WALTER MCCREDIE.

Walter McCredie was around bright and early with a Charlie Chaplin derby balanced upon his massive brow. Walter showed that the H. C. of L. has not yet blighted his young life by appearing in the afternoon with a fedora in place of the derby. This led to the rumor that Walter had closed with the Salt Lake gang, and had received some advance money, but his only reply to anxious inquiries was a far away look which may have meant anything.

AMONG OTHER EXCITING THINGS.

Among other exciting things that happened during the course of the day was a daring raid made on the club owners by a pair of beautiful Red Cross ladies. Al Baum, Cal Ewing, Ben Berry, Jack Cook and several other hardy moguls parted with one buck, and it didn't seem to pain them a bit. Al Baum promised his dollar to one beautiful damsel and rushed upstairs to find his purse. When he got back she had disappeared and he handed the coin over to the other one. The league boss was having his badge pinned on him by the second beauty and for a while it was feared that the ambulance might be called, but he succeeded in squaring himself in the suave manner for which league presidents are noted.

DEL HOWARD, NURSEMAID FOR THE OAKS.

Del Howard, nursemaid for the Oaks last season, was around bright and early and engaged in excited conversation with Wade Kilifer, Boots Weber and Andy Ferguson. Del opined about everything from pruning fruit trees to the painful collapse of the University of California football team. Kilifer, being a man of few words, startled the assembled multitude by handing over to Boots Weber the signed contract of Ford Tally, the local youngster who will get a try-out with the Angels this spring.

FRANCE WILL BE FARMED BY AMERICA TO WIN WAR.

Director of Perishable Products Tells of Tremendous Preparations in Progress for Next Year.

AN address before 500 business men at a Chamber of Commerce smoker last night, G. Harold Powell, general manager of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange and director of perishable marketing for the United States Food Administration, declared that the United States government is going to farm France next year to win the war.

"You may not know it," said Mr. Powell, "but your Uncle Sam is shipping thousands of tractors to France in order to mobilize the agricultural lands that have been so sorely neglected during the war. Along with the tractors are going men who will teach French men and women how to use our up-to-date machinery. That's how we are going to raise crops there and win the war."

Mr. Powell declared that France grew less than one-half a normal crop of cereals last year because of amateur farming. He said England and France have reduced their live stock supply to the extent of 15,000,000 hogs, 30,000,000 sheep and 25,000,000 cattle since the war began. Horses have been killed for meat and sent to war, until tractors are the only salvation for the agricultural lands there.

LIVE STOCK DEMAND.
"There will be an enormous demand for live stock in this country after the war," Mr. Powell said. "Our farmers cannot overdo the stock business. The herds and flocks of the Allied people will have to be reconstructed and the foundation stock must be secured in America."

Discussing perishable foods, he said the Food Administration regarded them as being absolutely necessary because they are the things to which people can turn when they desire to conserve the food.

By a Jury.
DR. LANTERMAN'S FREED ON MURDER INDICTMENT.

DR. R. S. LANTERMAN, former coroner of this county, was found not guilty on both counts of a murder indictment, by a jury in Judge Houser's court, last night. The jury retired at 4:15 and returned with the verdict at 6:10 p.m. The specific charge was of having performed an illegal operation upon Mrs. Evans' child, March 2, last, from the results of which she died the following April. Mrs. Evans was a young married woman who came to this city from San Francisco. Her parents reside in this city.

The prosecution, represented by Deputy District Attorneys Clark and Van Cote, tried by circumstantial evidence to show that the operation was performed.

Expected.
GRAND JURY MAY ACT IN PASADENA CASES TODAY.

WHETHER certain city officials of Pasadena are to face charges for the alleged misappropriation of funds will probably be determined by the grand jury today. Yesterday several officials were subpoenaed to appear before the inquisitorial body this morning.

Yesterday's witnesses were John Menger, special counsel to the city; Commissioners Allen, Salisbury and Creaser and former Commissioner Loughery. The investigation was conducted by Deputy District Attorney Selph, who said considerable evidence of importance has been secured. Rumors that prominent Pasadena politicians were endeavoring to squelch testimony and had tried to prevent the matter going before the grand jury were heard yesterday. It was alleged that the grand jury was engaged in the effort to stop the proceedings is a former city official and has held a State office. Some of the more important questions brought to the attention of the grand jury yesterday involved the purchase of the new sewer farm, which it is alleged, was bought without the assent of the people; the alleged illegal purchase of a Home Guard gun; the purchase of South Arroyo lands at an exorbitant price, forty-three acres in the Upper Arroyo and Incinerator lots. It was charged that the price in each instance was excessive, the entire sum paid for the Arroyo lands and the incinerator site being $45,000.

Court Acts.
PASADENA INCINERATOR IS ORDERED ABANDONED.

PASADENA'S incinerating plant was put out of business yesterday when Judge Valentine permanently enjoined the city from operating it, on the ground that it is a nuisance. The injunction suit led to this action was brought by H. C. Deming, owner of the Deno court, which is located within several blocks of the incinerator. He alleged that the odors from the plant drove out his tenants and had a tendency to depreciate the value of his property.

Judge Valentine appointed ex-Congressman Charles W. Bell and H. C. Hotelling to make an investigation. Their report was that the odor from the plant was disagreeable, and that it would have the effect of lessening the value of property in the vicinity. The plant is owned by the city, but was operated under a contract with W. H. Faust, to burn the garbage collected throughout the city. Under the court order it will have to be abandoned and the garbage on hand in the plant disposed of on the premises.

HONOR AGED WOMAN.
Many Friends Send Floral Tributes to Mrs. Hollenbeck on Her Ninetieth Birthday.

Although there were no formal affairs in connection with the ninetieth birthday anniversary of Mrs. Elizabeth Hollenbeck, which event occurred yesterday, there was a constant stream of callers at the home of this beloved woman. All day the visitors came to pay their respects, and Mrs. Hollenbeck received a wonderful array of floral tributes. She was also in receipt of many congratulatory letters and telegrams, and last evening expressed herself as being very happy over the remembrances of her friends.

SANTA BARBARA HAS NO ROOM FOR PACIFISTS.

Emphatic Declarations Greet News of Dr. Ryland's Transfer—Byron Wilson His Successor.

THAT Santa Barbara has no room for pacifists in the pulpit or elsewhere is the consensus of emphatic declarations made by church leaders of the Channel City yesterday, following the announcement that Dr. E. P. Ryland, formerly Los Angeles district superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Church, had been appointed to the pastorate of Grace Methodist Church in Santa Barbara.

Dr. Ryland was appointed to the Santa Barbara pulpit to succeed Dr. William M. Jeffers, who takes the place of Dr. Byron H. Wilson as pastor of the Boyle Heights Methodist Church. Dr. Wilson was appointed by Bishop Adna Wright Leonard as the new district superintendent.

CO-OPERATION PLEDGED.
Dr. Wilson the new district superintendent, will thoroughly co-operate with Bishop Leonard in organizing an extensive program of patriotic effort, through public meetings and otherwise, according to statements made by him and the bishop yesterday.

STRONG STATEMENTS.
Arthur H. Warner, a member of the official board of Grace Church, said last night:

"We would not stand for pacifists or anything like that. There are too many men with red blood in their veins here who would not stand for a pacifistic preacher."

Many of the members of Grace Church being to the Santa Barbara Consistory, an organization composed of six companies, totaling 500 men, which has been formed to protect the city and as a patriotic move. Members of this organization could reconcile themselves to belonging to a church whose preacher had pacifistic tendencies.

"There is not a pacifist in Grace Church," vehemently declared C. W. Tomlinson, another member of the official board. "We have all been strong for the war and I do not believe that we would stand for any other church whose preacher had pacifistic tendencies."

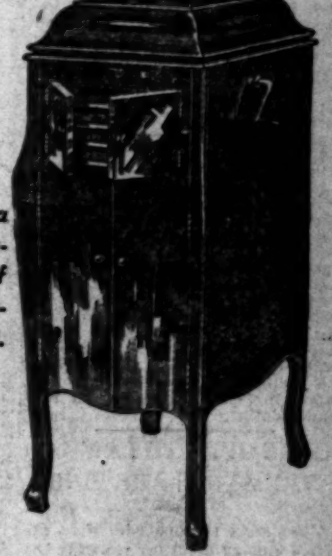

R. E. Kramer, superintendent of the Sunday-school and chairman of the county exemption board, said: "I am not a pacifist and do not believe in pacifism or I would not be chairman of the county exemption board. That is sufficient."

That Dr. Ryland will be made to conform to the patriotic policies of the church is indicated by the statement of George E. Sargent, steward of Grace Church, who said: "If Dr. Ryland preaches here, he will preach in front of an American flag."

Earl W. Morton, another member of the official board, declares that "So far as Southern California is concerned," said the bishop, "there is no question that it was a matter of the church stands absolutely loyal to the Stars and Stripes and to Mr. Wilson and his address."

The bishop then announced that (Continued on Fifth Page.)

FUNERAL TODAY OF COUNCILMAN

Body of J. S. Conwell to Lie in State at City Hall.

Policemen and Firemen will Form Guard of Honor.

City Departments Pay Respect to Dead Leader.

Plans for the official observance of the funeral services for the late James Simpson Conwell, president of the City Council, were completed last night by Chief Deputy City Clerk Carl F. Smith, acting for the City Council, and J. D. Burke, H. O. Slater, L. A. Parker, A. C. Robbins and W. S. Hyde, representing the family, fraternity and commercial interests with which the dead Councilman was associated. The body will lie in state in the Council chamber. This is the first time in the history of the present City Hall that this honor has been accorded a member of the council and is designated as an especial token of esteem and respect. The hour of the public and friends will be permitted to enter the Council chamber from 10 o'clock this afternoon until 1 o'clock in the afternoon. A guard of honor composed of thirty-two members of the police and fire departments will act as an escort to the body in the transfer from the Pierce Bros. mortuary to the City Hall. Mayor Woodman and members of the City Council will meet the body and escort it to the Council chamber, which has been appropriately decorated with potted plants and flowers from the city parks.

TO LIE ON BIER.
The body will lie on a bier inside the building so that it may be viewed without it being necessary for the public to pass behind the Councilmen's chairs. Several rows of the stationary chairs have been removed to permit of easy ingress. A special guard of honor of three members of the police and three of the fire departments will stand at the bier. In the absence of Mayor Woodman, Acting Mayor Cleveland yesterday issued a proclamation to all department heads in the City Hall, requesting them to suspend business in their departments in order that the body of the dead Councilman may be viewed. He also asked that all of them attend the services to be held at 1 o'clock from St. John's Episcopal Church, West Adams and Figueroa streets.

The Councilman held a very brief session yesterday morning and adopted a resolution of sympathy presented by Councilman Reeves. It then adjourned. As a result of the acting president of the Council, when the meeting was called to order yesterday, did not take the customary chair occupied by President Conwell.

RESOLUTIONS.
Other resolutions of sympathy were adopted during the day by the Board of Public Utilities, the Humane Animal Commission and the Los Angeles Press Club. Newspapermen always present a special friend in the dead Councilman, and they mourn his passing as deeply as any of his associates.

The active pallbearers will be as follows:
L. A. Parker, Lieut. J. W. McKinley, Jr., and E. G. Slater, Past President, and Sigma Fraternity; Harold L. Arnold, Ralph Hamilton and A. C. Robbins, representing the automobile dealers.

The list of honorary pallbearers is as follows:
Mayor Woodman, Councilmen Cleveland, Conner, Connel, Conwell, Farmer, Mallard, Olsen and Reeves; Walter Bruce, University Club; William Bush, L.A.A.C.; C. H. Langmuir, Municipal League; Dr. J. H. McBride, X-Club; Gen. Robert Wankowski, Chamber of Commerce; H. L. Connel, Los Angeles Realty Board; William Lacy and G. I. ## FIGHT TO AUDIT CITY BOOKS LOST.

MUSKET LOSES IN HIS SUIT TO ENFORCE INSPECTION OF RECORDS.

The District Court of Appeal has reversed the judgment of Superior Judge Jackson, in the action brought by W. C. Musket against the department of public service and the Board of Public Service, to compel the city by writ of mandamus to allow Musket to inspect and examine certain books of account, records, papers and documents kept by the city, under the claim that the same are public records.

The judgment originally found in favor of Musket is reversed, with directions to the trial court to deny the motion for a judgment on the pleadings of the respondent, Musket. It was denied by the city that Musket had brought the action on the part of himself and others as citizens of Los Angeles. It also was alleged affirmatively by the city that the books of account, records, papers and documents kept by the city are not public records, but are the property of the city, and that the city has the right to control the same. The city also alleged that the books of account, records, papers and documents kept by the city are not public records, but are the property of the city, and that the city has the right to control the same.

LAWYERS SHY AT FILM CASE.

"Spirit of '76" Promoter's
Defense Uncertain.

Earl Rogers Says He's not for Pro-Germanism.

Goldstein's Arraignment is Put Over a Day.

Robert Goldstein, indicted by the Federal grand jury on the charge of violating the Espionage Act, in exhibiting the moving picture "The Spirit of '76," is apparently having trouble to secure legal defense as well as bondsmen.

When the arraignment was begun in United States District Judge Oscar Trippel's court yesterday, Goldstein was not present. Assistant United States District Attorney Lawson said an agreement had been reached by which further proceedings had been postponed until this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Then Judge Trippel asked the name of his firm be arraigned from the record as attorneys for Goldstein. Earl Rogers was then recognized by the court, and asked if he represented Goldstein. "Not yet," said Mr. Rogers, but for the purpose of the preliminary motion to postpone he consented to act.

After the matter was thus disposed of, Mr. Rogers stated that if it could be shown to him by the District Attorney that there is any pro-German thing to the acts of Goldstein he will refuse to have anything further to do with the case.

Proceeding, Mr. Rogers said: "All I want is the professional statement of the District Attorney that such a condition exists and I am out of the case. There is no question of Goldstein and his friends raising the money for my retainer; it is simply one of whether I can afford to appear as attorney in such an action. I have a boy with the Lafayette Escadrille in France, and his father does not propose to defend a possible traitor against this country."

Attorney Joseph Scott, who recently resigned as president of the company that produced the alleged pro-German picture, was absent.

Goldstein is still trying to get $10,000 bond.

HORSE WILL COLLECT FOR THE RED STAR.

ANIMAL WILL PASS HAT AMONG
DANCERS AT SHIRAZ
AUDITORIUM.

The American Red Star Animal Relief campaign, to raise $50,000 in Los Angeles by next Thursday night, will be materially assisted from the proceeds of a benefit ball at Shiraz Auditorium this evening.

A novel feature of the ball will be the appearance of a "begging horse," which will pass a hat about among the gathering for the relief of its suffering fellow-animals at the foot.

The horse, a pure white Arabian trick animal, named Juanita, will carry a decorated basket in its mouth and will mingle with the dancers, without bridle or halter. The horse is the property of Joseph Seitzer, Los Angeles theatrical man, who has exhibited the animal on vaudeville circuits from coast to coast.

Besides the plate-passing horse, a number of moving pictures and theatrical stars will appear at the benefit tonight, including Douglas Fairbanks, Charlie Chaplin and other celebrities.

In letters to the Red Star Animal Relief Committee, Gen. Stephens and L. D. Sala, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, heartily endorse the campaign, which is designed to save the lives of wounded horses and dogs on the battlefield.

ALLEGES NEGLIGENCE.
United States Marshal Walton slipped into a seat in Judge Shenk's courtroom yesterday and heard William La Plante, an attorney, testify how and why Mr. Walton was negligent while Mr. La Plante's sloop yacht Detroit was in his hands at the harbor under an attachment. It was libeled and seized by the Marshal over a year ago.

Mr. La Plante, in suing Mr. Walton for $1000 damages, declares that the vessel has not been cleaned since seized; that it has become infested with marine growth, and the plankton underneath is worm eaten. The starboard side has been crushed, he alleges further. Mr. Walton set up the plea that the statute of limitations has run.

TEN THOUSAND ON FIRST DAY.
Knights of Columbus Fund is Started with Rush.

Many Pledge Aid to War-work
Money Campaign.

Will Try to Raise Quarter of a Million Here.

The campaign for the war camp fund of the Knights of Columbus was formally begun yesterday from headquarters at No. 521 Laughlin

Building. The results of the first day's work was highly gratifying to the committee in charge, indicating the patriotism of men of all creeds in responding to the cause.

One of the interesting features connected with the drive was a letter received from Titus N. Alexander, pleading the aid of the colored people of the city.

A luncheon was held at Christopher's yesterday at which final instructions were issued to all contributors to the campaign.

The contributions for the first day were as follows:
Standard Oil Company ..... $5,000
L. A. Council, K. of C. .... 3,000
Dan Murphy ..... 1,000
Pacific Mutual Life Ins. Co. .... 100
L. A. Assembly, Fourth Degree, K. of C. .... 500
It is the hope of the committee to at least equal the record that San Francisco made in the recent drive held in that city, where $250,000 was subscribed.
